The Pennsylvania Avenue Funds

P.O. Box 9543 ♦ Washington, D.C. 20016 ♦ U.S.A.

August 2006

Dear Shareholder,

I am pleased to report that the Pennsylvania Avenue Event-Driven Fund has returned 7.55% for its Investor Class Shares during the first six months of 2006, whereas the S&P Index total return, including dividends, was 2.71% over the same period. The Fund's net assets more than doubled as a result of strong inflows during the first quarter. The Fund did not employ leverage during the period.

As in previous years, the Fund focused primarily on merger arbitrage and proxy fights, and invested to a lesser extent in distressed securities. The chart below shows the allocation of assets on June 30th. Merger activity remained strong during the first half of the year, and as a result, the majority of the Fund's assets are concentrated in this strategy.

The Fund's performance in May and June suffered from a sudden deterioration in many of the Fund's proxy fight investments. Much of this movement can be attributed to the general fall of mid and small cap stocks over the same period, which is the sector in which many of the Fund's proxy fight investments happen to be concentrated. But I believe that there are also other factors at work. Activist investments have been a recent favorite of hedge funds, and a number of new entrants are reported to have launched funds this year. The field has become crowded. In the current climate it has become difficult to select promising investment candidates among proxy fights, and I do not plan to add new positions in this strategy in the immediate future. In addition, correlations with indices are generally higher for stocks in our proxy fight strategy than for investments in the other strategies, so despite its current popularity, I am reluctant to jump on the bandwagon and increase the proportion of proxy fights in the portfolio. The risk to reward ratio is better, and improving, in merger arbitrage.

Buyout and merger activity remains strong, and even if private equity buyers were to tame their appetite for companies, the overall level of buyouts should remain strong if corporate buyers spend their excess cash. Spreads on mergers continue to improve, and I now find enough opportunities to invest in this strategy, even in larger transactions where spreads in the last few years used to be too tight to justify an investment. The era in which too much money (i.e. too many hedge funds) was chasing too few mergers appears to have passed for good.

Earlier this year, the Fund filed a lawsuit to block the sale of CFC International to a private equity firm. The transaction subsequently collapsed, and so did the price of the stock. A few months later, CFC International proposed a sale to Illinois Tool Works, a strategic buyer, under essentially the same conditions. We re-filed the lawsuit and are currently awaiting confirmation of the proposed settlement.

During the year, we have increased brokerage availability of the fund. The fund is now available through more brokerage and clearing firms: Matrix Settlement & Clearance Services, Shareholders Service Group and Scottrade. Just recently, the Fund obtained the ticker symbol PAEDX, so that investors can follow the Fund more easily through financial websites and data vendors.

I thank all investors for their continued investment in the Fund.

Yours sincerely,

Thomas Kirchner

Past performance does not predict future performance. The graph and table do not reflect the deduction of taxes that you would pay on fund distributions or the redemption of Fund shares. Investment return and principal value will fluctuate, so that your shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than the original cost.

The total return of the S&P 500 Index assumes daily reinvestment of dividends. Because no assets were allocatable to the Adviser Class during the year, Adviser Class returns are derived from Investor Class returns and adjusted by the difference in expenses.

PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE EVENT-DRIVEN FUND,
A SERIES OF THE PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE FUNDS

Notes to Financial Statements

June 30, 2006 (unaudited)

1. ORGANIZATION AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Organization: Pennsylvania Avenue Event-Driven Fund, a Series of The Pennsylvania Avenue Funds (the “Fund”) is a non-diversified regulated investment company and was organized as a Delaware business trust on September 19, 2002. The Pennsylvania Avenue Funds (“The Trust”) is permitted to offer separate portfolios and different classes of shares. The Trust currently offers two classes of shares. The Trust is authorized to issue an unlimited number of shares of beneficial interest. The Fund’s investment objective is to seek capital growth by engaging in investment strategies related to corporate events, such as mergers, reorganizations, bankruptcies or proxy fights. It intends to invest in securities of companies of any size and uses derivatives both as a substitute for investing in underlying securities, as well as for hedging purposes. The investment strategies employed by the Fund contain a higher degree of risk than a balanced investment program and this may not be appropriate for investors who are risk averse. From inception through June 30, 2006, only Investor Class Shares have been offered. No transactions in Adviser Class Shares have occurred, and no assets or liabilities are allocable to Adviser Class Shares.

Security Valuations: Equity securities are valued by using market quotations, but may be valued on the basis of prices furnished by a pricing service when the Adviser believes such prices accurately reflect the fair market value of such securities. Securities that are traded on any stock exchange or on the NASDAQ over the counter market are generally valued by the pricing service at its last bid price except for short positions, for which the last quoted price is used. When market quotations are not readily available, when the Adviser determines that the market quotation or the price provided by the service does not accurately reflect the current market value, or when restricted or illiquid securities are being valued, such securities are valued as determined in good faith by the Board of Trustees. The Board has adopted guidelines for the good faith pricing, and has delegated the Adviser the responsibility for determining fair value prices, subject to review by the Board of Trustees.

Fixed income securities generally are valued by using market quotations, but may be valued on the basis of prices furnished by a pricing service when the Adviser believes such prices accurately reflect the fair market value of such securities. A pricing service utilized electronic data processing techniques based on yield spreads relating to securities with similar characteristics to determine prices for normal institutional-size trading units of debt securities without regard to sale or bid prices. If the Adviser decides that a price provided by the pricing service does not accurately reflect the fair market value of the securities, when the prices are not readily available from a pricing service, or when restricted or illiquid securities are being valued, securities are valued at fair value as determined in good faith by the Adviser, subject to review of the Board of Trustees. Short-term investments in fixed income securities with maturities of less than 60 days when acquired, or which subsequently are within 60 days of maturity, are valued by using the amortized cost method of valuation, which the Board has determined will represent fair value.

Short Sales: The Fund may sell a security it does not own in anticipation of a decline in fair value of that security. When the Fund sells a security short, it must borrow the security sold short and deliver it to the broker-dealer through which it made the short sale. A gain, limited to the price at which the Fund sold the security short, or loss, unlimited in size, will be recognized upon the termination of a short sale.

Federal Income Taxes: The Fund's policy is to comply with the requirements of the Internal Revenue Code that are applicable to regulated investment companies and to distribute all its taxable income to its shareholders. Therefore, no federal income tax provision is required.

Distributions to Shareholders: The Fund also intends to distribute in the future substantially all of its net realized capital gains and net investment income, if any, at year-end.

Other: The Fund follows industry practice and records security transactions on the trade date. The specific identification method is used for determining gains or losses for financial statements and income tax purposes. Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date and interest income is recorded on an accrual basis.

Use of Estimates: The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principals requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the year. 2. INVESTMENT ADVISORY AND TRANSFER AGENT AGREEMENT results could differ from these estimates.

The Fund has an agreement with Pennsylvania Avenue Advisers LLC (“the Advisor”), with whom certain officers and trustees of the Fund are affiliated, to furnish investment advisory services to the Fund. The Advisor will also serve as transfer agent to the Fund. Under the terms of the advisory agreement, the Fund will pay the Advisor a monthly fee based on the Fund’s average daily net assets at the annual rate of 1.00% of the Fund’s first $10,000,000 of net assets and 0.90% of the net assets exceeding $10,000,000. A total fee of $6,364 accrued to the Advisor during the period ended June 30, 2006.

Under the terms of the agreement if the aggregate expenses of the Fund are equal to or greater than 1.50% and 1.75% of the Fund’s net assets for the Investor Class and the Adviser Class, respectively, the Advisor will reimburse the Fund for these expenses. During the period, the Advisor reimbursed the Fund and paid expenses on behalf of the Fund totaling $11,520.

The Advisor also receives compensation of a monthly fee based on the Fund’s average daily net assets at the annual rate of 0.10% of the Fund’s assets exceeding $5,000,000 for its services as transfer agent for the Fund. No payments were made or accrued under the transfer agent agreement. The Advisor does not receive compensation for its services as the Fund’s administrator.

2. INVESTMENT ADVISORY AND TRANSFER AGENT AGREEMENT (cont'd)

The Fund has adopted a Plan of Distribution pursuant to Rule 12b-1. Under the Investor Class Plan, up to 0.25% of average daily net assets attributable to Investor Class Shares can be used to pay for distribution expenses. Under this plan, $854 were paid or accrued during the period. No expenses related to the Adviser Class plan of distribution, which permits the use of up to 0.50% of average daily net assets attributable to Adviser Class Shares, accrued during the year as no assets were allocated to that class.

3. INVESTMENTS

For the period ended June 30, 2006, purchases and sales, including proceeds from mergers and tender offers, of investment securities other than short-term investments aggregated $1,528,089 and $674,067, respectively. On June 30, 2006, the gross unrealized appreciation of all securities totaled $129,945, and the gross unrealized depreciation of all securities totaled $48,138, for a net unrealized appreciation of $81,812. The aggregate cost of securities for federal income tax purposes on June 30, 2006 was $1,566,067, including the cost of short-term investments.

4. FEDERAL INCOME TAXES

Income and long-term capital gain distributions are determined in accordance with Federal income tax regulations, which may differ from accounting principles generally accepted in the United States.

4. FEDERAL INCOME TAXES (continued)

As of June 30, 2006, the components of distributable earnings on a tax basis were as follows:

Undistributed ordinary income	$ 34,666
Undistributed long-term capital gain	$ 26,097
Unrealized appreciation	$ 81,812

The tax character of distributions paid during the year ended December 31, 2005 and 2004:

	2005	2004
Ordinary income	$18,905	$36,399
Long-term capital gain	3,620	-
Tax return of capital	3,255	2,909

The 2005 ordinary income distribution has been designated as consisting entirely of short-term capital gains for purposes of withholding of taxes to non-residents.

In 2004, the Fund included in dividend income for federal income tax purposes and for book purposes a deferred cash payment resulting from a merger of one the portfolio holdings in the amount of $6,000. In 2005, $2,000 were included in the Fund's income tax-free, and a balance of $4,000 of that amount remain available toward future distributions on that security.

PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE EVENT-DRIVEN FUND,
A SERIES OF THE PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE FUNDS
EXPENSE EXAMPLE

We believe that it is important for you to understand the impact of costs on your investment. As a shareholder of the Fund, you incur two types of costs: (1) transaction costs, including sales charges (loads) on purchase payments, reinvested dividends, or other distributions; redemption fees; and exchange fees; and (2) ongoing costs, including management fees; distribution (12b-1) fees; and other Fund expenses. This Example is intended to help you understand your ongoing costs (in dollars) of investing in the Fund and to compare these costs with the ongoing costs of investing in other mutual funds.

The Example is based on an investment of $1,000 invested at the beginning of the period and held for the entire period from December 31, 2005 to June 30, 2006.

The table on the next page illustrates the Fund's costs in two ways:

Actual Expenses

The first line of the table below provides information about actual account values and actual expenses. You may use the information in this line, together with the amount you invested, to estimate the expenses that you paid over the period. Simply divide your account value by $1,000 (for example, an $8,600 account value divided by $1,000 = 8.6), then multiply the result by the number in the first line under the heading entitled "Expenses Paid During Period" to estimate the expenses you paid on your account during this period. If you invest directly in the Fund through an IRA account, the Fund's IRA custodian charges an annual fee of $45. This fee is not reflected in the table below. Therefore, your expenses would increase by this amount, and your ending account value would decrease by the same amount. You should check with your tax adviser if you can deduct this fee from your taxable income.

Hypothetical Example for Comparison Purposes

The second line of the table below provides information about hypothetical account values and hypothetical expenses based on the Fund's actual expense ratio and an assumed rate of return of 5% per year before expenses, which is not the Fund's actual return. The hypothetical account values and expenses may not be used to estimate the actual ending account balance or expenses you paid for the period. You may use this information to compare the ongoing costs of investing in the Fund and other funds. To do so, compare this 5% hypothetical example with the 5% hypothetical examples that appear in the shareholder reports of the other funds. If you invest directly in the Fund through an IRA account, the Fund's IRA custodian charges an annual fee of $45. This fee is not reflected in the table below. The effect of this additional fee would increase your expenses by this amount, and your ending account value would decrease by the same amount.

Please note that the expenses shown in the table are meant to highlight your ongoing costs only and do not reflect any transactional costs, such as sales charges (loads), redemption fees, or exchange fees. Therefore, the second line of the table is useful in comparing ongoing costs only, and will not help you determine the relative total costs of owning different funds. In addition, if these transactional costs were included, your costs would have been higher.

PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE EVENT-DRIVEN FUND,
A SERIES OF THE PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE FUNDS
Board of Directors

Board of Trustees and Officers (Unaudited)

The business and affairs of the Fund are managed under the direction of the Fund's Board of Trustees. Information pertaining to the Trustees of the Fund is set forth below. The SAI includes additional information about the Fund's Trustees, and is available without charge, by calling 1-888-642-6393. Each Trustee may be contacted by writing to the trustee c/o Pennsylvania Avenue Funds, P.O. Box 9543, Washington, DC 20016.

In light of the low asset base of the Fund, the Trustees decided to forego their compensation for board meetings attended until such time that the Board decides to re-enact this arrangement. As a result, no payments were made to Trustees in the period through June 30, 2006.

On December 29, 2005, the Board of Trustees voted to renew the advisory contract with Pennsylvania Avenue Advisers LLC for one year by the unanimous vote of the non-interested Trustees. In taking this decision, the Trustees considered:

- the return of the Fund, both on absolute terms and in comparison to mutual funds with similar objectives, which was achieved through the advice and portfolio management service provided by the Advisor;
- the willingness of the Advisor to continue to limit the expense ratio of the Fund to 1.50% of average daily net assets by waiving fees and paying expenses on behalf of the Fund;
- the small size of the Fund and the likelihood that another adviser may be interested in managing the Fund; and
- management fees charged for advisory services to other mutual funds with similar investment objectives, which are higher in the peer group considered by the Trustees.
